PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE: The transition into 2005 makes us view the future with renewed enthusiasm, especially for those of us who appreciate the rich, boundless heritage of Pintlala and surrounding communities. We will be challenged to make substantial progress with regard to many of our projects.

In my mind, our greatest organizational challenge is the need to involve young or middle-aged adults in our mission. I am hopeful that we will begin to think strategically about such an objective. Much of our history and heritage has yet to be researched and chronicled. Invite a friend to January's meeting and let's become missionary in our outreach to others. Just think. Ten or fifteen new members in 2005 will wonderfully change the dynamic within the P.H.A.

Another worthy goal will be to market our history and heritage to newcomers in our area. We have a story to tell. The Hyundai Corporation will become fully operational soon. Physical and demographical changes will erase our history if it is not shared with a new generation of citizens who have much to offer. The love of our local heritage is a virus which has infected a few of us. It is highly contagious when contact with others is made.

GARY BURTON, PRESIDENT
Christmas Day 2004

JANUARY 2005 MEETING: Pintlala Historical Association will meet on Sunday, January 16th at 2:30 pm in the fellowship Hall of Pintlala Baptist Church. The program will be "Writing Family Stories" by Tyson Thompson, retired from the Alabama State Department of Education.

Mr. Thompson began a project of collecting stories written by members of his family to pass down to younger generations of Thompsons. These stories were eventually published and several groups in our area have had Mr. Thompson share his initiative in order to encourage others to write their own stories.

Come join us, you will be entertained and inspired to record your families experiences. Invite friends and relatives to attend also. See you on the 16th! (Many thanks to Alice Carter for once again arranging such a interesting program!)

VIRGINIA MOORE CELEBRATES HER 100TH BIRTHDAY! Virginia, long time resident of the Mt Carmel Community, was born on January 26th 1905 in Starkville, MS. She married William C. Callahan in Tuscaloosa and the couple had four children, Bill, Helen, Eddie, and Baker and lived in Montgomery. Some time after Mr. Callahan's death, she married Hill Moore, and lived in the old Moore Family Home on Hickory Grove Road where the Session Family now lives. (Many PHA members recall visiting that stately old home with the huge porches a few years ago when we toured that area.) Virginia was an active member of Mt. Carmel Methodist Church, and a very caring, cheerful, contributing member of the community, helping anyone and everyone and in any way she could. She even regularly repaired other people's leaking faucets! She was an expert needlework artist and seamstress, making many beautiful treasures and helping hone those skills of countless others. I well recall the night she dropped everything she was doing and dashed over to our house to help save my (somewhat questionable) sanity: While I was at work, our 7-year-old son had come home from school and announced to his grandmother that he was to be a king in the Pintlala School play, and would need a "really fancy costume." Mrs. Hataway asked him when the play was to be, and he excitedly replied, "Tomorrow." Virginia repaired our ailing sewing machine, and assembled and constructed a beautiful and appropriate costume. She continued such labors of love with her excellent needlework skills even into her later years. Not only did she create beautiful afghans for the grandchildren and many friends and relatives, she regularly and graciously continued to do alterations and repairs for "older" people, attending a sewing workshop three times a week. Now, Virginia has thirteen grandchildren, twenty-nine great grandchildren, and twenty great-great-grandchildren to help her celebrate this special occasion! HAPPY BIRTHDAY, VIRGINIA, AND THANKS FOR ALL YOU HAVE DONE OVER THE YEARS! (jch)

HISTORY IN THE MAKING: MEMBERS OF PINTLALA'S HENRY FAMILY HONORED. Montgomery County, and especially the members of the Henry Family, were honored at the annual meeting of the Alabama Farmers Federation in Mobile last month. Lifelong Pintlala farmer Davis Henry was commended for his tremendous contributions to agriculture and his community and was presented the Senior Leaders Award. Other members of the family were also recognized at that statewide meeting. Davis' oldest son, Garry Henry, the outgoing

Montgomery County president, was recognized among the top counties who received "Gold Star" designation, and his youngest son, Mike Henry, the outgoing Young Farmers Chairman, hosted the Talent and Miss Agriculture Pageants. (Mike also had the honor of awarding Montgomery County's Haley Mims first place in the State Talent Contest!) And Jeanne Henry, was recognized by the State Women's Committee for conducting Food Price Surveys since the beginning of that program over 25 years ago.

VANDALS STRIKE A PHA MARKER: On the night of December 9, 2004 the evidence of vandalism on the Old Federal Road in Pintlala could be seen. Property damage included the historical marker commemorating Manac's Tavern and The Federal Road. The marker was funded by gifts to the PHA and was installed only a few years ago. The sign itself was not damaged, but the post supporting the sign was demolished. A new post has been ordered at a cost to the PHA of $300.00. If you have knowledge of those who perpetrated the crime, please contact the County Sheriff who is investigating the incidents of vandalism. We are indebted to Will Hill Tankersley for assuming the cost of replacing the damaged post for the Manac/Federal Road Historical Marker.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PAY PHA DUES: Please don't forget to mail or give your annual dues of $10.00 to Thomas Ray, Treasurer.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO THERESA DAVIS! She celebrates a special on January 13th, 2005.

Manac and His Tavern

By Gary Burton

Sam Manac was probably the first person to make Pintlala famous. Historians have treated him only secondarily. He is usually seen in the shadow of Alexander McGillivray or William Weatherford (Red Eagle), but in his own right made a significant contribution to the westward expansion of America, especially in the "Old Southwest," as Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia were known. Manac, which could be variously spelled as Moniac, Manack, McNac, Manac, Manaque. Samuel Takkes-Hadjo Moniac, to use his complete name, was a mestizo, whose father was a Dutchman and whose mother was Creek.

Manac operated a tavern on the Old Federal Road which bisected the heart of what is now known as Pintlala. Before the Federal Road was commissioned by Thomas Jefferson in 1803, Indian trading paths existed along the same route. It was Jefferson's intention to expedite postal delivery by developing a travel artery from the Georgian interior to Fort Stoddart in southwest Alabama. Although engineered and marked in the immediate aftermath of congressional sanction, serious construction did not begin until 1810-1811. The construction transformed the postal horse road into a conduit for Federal armies and military supplies. By 1820 the Federal Road would provide passage for the heavy migration of people who would settle in the central and southwestern regions of the infant state of Alabama.

Long before Alabama acquired statehood in 1819, the entrepreneurial Sam Manack managed a tavern and cowpens in Pintlala. From 1803-1816, Manack's became a familiar waystation on the primitive road.

Licensed by Whom?

Early chroniclers of Alabama history state that Sam Manac operated the first licensed tavern in Alabama. To be precise, Alabama had not yet acquired statehood and, therefore, was part of the Mississippi Territory. In the early stages of the Federal Road's development taverns and waystations emerged. It appears that, at least in central Alabama, one did not have to journey more than a day or two before finding a place for rest, food, and sleep.

It is difficult to know exactly who granted a license to Sam Manac. Was it Benjamin Hawkins, the Indian agent or was it Harry Toulmin who in 1804 was appointed by President Jefferson to serve as superior court judge for the Tombigbee district of the Mississippi Territory? Toulmin was the only civil government representative in a vast, sparsely settled wilderness region. He acted as judge, diplomat, postmaster, and road-surveyor. At times he performed weddings, conducted funerals, and practiced medicine. What is known about Toulmin is that he was asked to codify the laws of the territory and in 1807 did so. The second code of Mississippi (Territory) reflected many of the tavern regulations adopted by the General Assembly in 1803, incidentally the year Manac began his operation on the Pinchona Creek.

Early Tavern Statutes

Six reputable free-holders of the county must recommend the applicant. A three hundred dollar bond was required. The posting of rates or fees, and other regulations on which the bond was conditioned were:

“Constantly keeping and providing the said tavern with good, clean, and wholesome diet, and lodging for travelers, and stabling, provender or pasturage for horses ... and for the due observance of all laws and ordinances, which are or may be in force in this territory, in relation to tavern-keepers.”

Rates were fixed by the justices of county courts. Illegal gambling such as cock-fighting, cards, dice, and gaming tables was prohibited in the inn, tavern, out-buildings, tenements, yard or garden of the tavern.

Rum, brandy, whiskey, taffia, or other spirituous liquors were sold only by the gallon. Strong beer, porter, cider or wine were not sold in amounts less than four gallons. Watered spirits resulted in a fine, and a conviction of drunkenness rendered the tavern-keeper's license void.

By 1816, the year Sam Manac turned the operation of the tavern over to his wife, the sale of alcohol was forbidden to apprentices, servants, and slaves. Soldiers required permission of their commanding officer. Sale of liquor to Indians was expressly forbidden.

More than a Tavern

Sam Manac's place on the Pinchona was probably an outlet for goods and supplies. Half-breeds, or mestizos, like Manac, were more receptive to the encouragement of the Federal Government to give up the deerskin trade and embrace agriculture as a means of livelihood. After all, mestizos had learned to adapt to different cultures, were sometimes bilingual and more entrepreneurial in spirit. Therefore, it is not a surprise to consider that Manac was probably involved in the distribution of goods through Panton, Leslie, and Company.

The company was established in 1783 and headquartered in Pensacola 1785-1830. Panton, Leslie, and Company had trading posts scattered as far north as Memphis and as far west as New Orleans, including posts at Mobile and at several locations in Florida, the Bahamas, and in the Caribbean. William Panton and John Leslie were merchants from Scotland who were joined by Thomas Forbes, William Alexander, and Charles McLatchy. They were all experienced merchants involved in the Indian trade and together they formed Panton, Leslie, and Company (known as John Forbes and Company after 1805).

It is difficult to ascertain the degree to which Sam Manac was involved with the trading company, if at all. Many factors point in that direction. Consider these:

- 1 One of the earliest plat maps, confirmed by Cynthia Luckie with the Alabama Archives and History Department to predate 1817, depicts the Federal Road in Pintlala and locates Manack's "Store."
- 2 The principle stockholder or partner in P, L, and Company was Alexander McGillivray whose niece was married to Manac.
- 2 One of the earliest references to Sam Manac is a letter from Alexander McGillivray to Artura O'Neill, dated August 12, 1788. In the letter McGillivray states, "I had no paper to write till young Moniac came with his pack horses ..." In some of McGillivray's correspondence promoting Panton, Leslie, and Company, he refers to someone with the Moniac name who died in the early 1780's and who served as a courier and interpreter. Was this William Dixon Moniac, the father to Sam? Without question there was strong family involvement in the Indian trading business.
- 3 In 1804, after Manac's Tavern/Store had been in operation for one year, Benjamin Hawkins empowered William Weatherford and Sam Manac to arrest William Bowles. Bowles had not only been undermining McGillivray's influence, but had sought to disrupt the success of Panton, Leslie, and Company by promoting his own Indian Trading Venture.

Threads of circumstantial evidence lend credence to the premise that Manac's Tavern was also an outlet for Indian trade under the auspices of the Panton, Leslie and Company.

The Tavern's Pricelist

While there seems to be no extant document outlining services and costs provided by Manac's Tavern on the Pinchona, a good idea is provided in the records of the Monroe County Order Book, Number 1, 1816-1821. In 1817 mention is made of persons to whom tavern licenses were granted, who recommended them, and who served as security. A price list, doubtless reflective of the times and region.

Personal Note:

- 1 If my tee-totaling Baptist constituents are concerned about this tavern-related article, my research was purely intellectual.
- 2 Also, I hope to research and write more about Sam Manac with topics including his early life with Little Tallassee, the 1790 Treaty of New York, his deeds of bravery during the Red Stick War, his involvement with Red Eagle, thumbnail sketches of those who stayed at Manac's Tavern, and his decline and demise. If you have information relative to Sam Manac, I would love to hear from you.

PINTLALA HISTORICAL MARKER MISSING FOR DECADES: What could have happened to the marker commemorating the birthplace of David Manac, son to Sam Manac who operated a tavern on the Old Federal Road from 1803-1816? What is known can be found in The Alabama Historical Quarterly, Volumn 14, 1952. Here is the entry:

“David Manac Marker. In Montgomery County, at a point where the Old Federal Road crossed Pinchona Creek. This marker was erected to the memory of David Manac, a noted Creek Indian, and was erected by the Alabama Anthropological Society in 1823.”

Information related to the marker would be appreciated. It may be helpful to remember that the county road crossing the Pinchona Creek was moved a short distance to the north in the early 1960s. Was it then that the sign was removed? Does someone possess it now? If possible, the PHA would like to gain possession of it. If not possible, photographs of the sign would be appreciated. Someone surely knows the whereabouts of the old 1923 marker. Confidentiality will be honored or amnesty granted to any person with knowledge leading to the recovery of the marker. Contact Gary Burton, 288-7414.

MEMORIALS: PHA extends heartfelt sympathy to the families of Mrs. Thelma Burke Brady, Mr. Leon Hataway, Mrs. Celia Bedsole Sellers Dickman, Mr. John Shaw, Mr. Luther Norman, Mr. Lambert, Mrs. Billie Richey, and any other loved ones of our PHA members and friends.

WELL WISHES: Warmest get well wishes to Miriam Williams, Crowell Davis, Felix Lassiter, Robert Sharpe, Mary Frances Dean King and all our other members and friends who have been feeling “under the weather.”

REMEMBERING LLEWELLYN HAYNES (LLEWIE) DUGGAR

His first cousin, Sarah Bruer, and Rene Barnett submitted a tribute to Llewie and an interesting old picture which unfortunately, I was unable to reproduce. Sarah had written “The 1935 picture is of the “famous” late twenties or early thirties station wagon which twelve year old Llewellyn Duggar drove the some one hundred thirty miles over mostly dirt roads from Hope Hull, Alabama Florala, Alabama - filled with relatives - to see “Uncle Relfe Parker” and taste the cinnamon rolls and other delicacies from his bakery. Front seat: Llewellyn Duggar driving, next his mother, Edna Rivers Haynes Duggar, next Virginia Haynes Fail. Second seat: Our Grandmother, Eula Walton Broadnax Haynes, Fred Duggar III; Third seat: Anna Pugh Fail, Charlie Jarvis Ellis, who was a distant relative.” Sarah has also written stories of their childhood escapades and a eulogy to her beloved cousin which is being put in the Duggar Family Section of the PHA Alcove in the Pintlala Public Library, along with the picture. Perhaps someone with more skill than I have can reproduce the picture later! THANK YOU, Sarah and Rene! (jch)

THE FLETA LODGE

(A list of members from 1854 - 1950 is attached)

In any organization the records are only as good as the people who keep them. Many times information is recorded wrong or omitted all together. Humans are not infallible and we do make mistakes from time to time and if we do not make mistakes we will never learn anything that will benefit us in the future. While writing this history of the Lodge I gleaned information from the minutes and discovered that the Sandy Ridge, Mt. Carmel and Fleta communities have a deep and rich history worth preserving and not to be allowed to sift through the passages of time into anonymity. As promised I compiled a list of all the members of Fleta Lodge No. 223 going through the minutes and membership rolls kept by the Lodge for the last one hundred and fifty years. There are 384 names listed and 51 of those are from Ramer Lodge No. 243 when we merged with Fleta in August of 1997. If there are any names missing from the list that you believe should be included please let me, Alan M. Davis or Joe Lee Huffman, who is the current Secretary of the Lodge, know so that the information can be corrected. I will also write a little more history of Fleta Lodge I missed in the first three segments and will be researching the minutes to write a history of Ramer Lodge No. 243 in the future to see what bit of history can be gleaned from them. – Alan M. Davis
